

A net of a cylinder. It consists of a large rectangle divided into three equal sections by two vertical dashed lines. Two trapezoidal tabs are attached to the rectangle: one to the top edge of the rightmost section and one to the bottom edge of the leftmost section.